Chemours Appoints Erin N. Kane to Board of Directors

June 18, 2019

WILMINGTON, Del., June 18, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- The Chemours Company (Chemours) (NYSE: CC), a global chemistry company with leading market positions in fluoroproducts, titanium technologies, and chemical solutions, today announced the appointment of Erin N. Kane to its board of directors.

"We are very impressed with Erin's diverse experiences within our industry, and she has a demonstrated track record of success on a global scale," said Richard H. Brown, Chair of the board of directors at Chemours. "We welcome her to our board and look forward to her contributions."

Ms. Kane currently serves as president and chief executive officer of AdvanSix, a manufacturer of nylon 6 resin, chemical intermediates, and ammonium sulfate. She has held this position since AdvanSix spun-off from Honeywell in 2016. Previously, Ms. Kane held positions of increasing global responsibility at Honeywell, and Six Sigma and process engineering positions at Elementis Specialties and Kvaerner Process.

Ms. Kane holds a Bachelor's of Science degree in Chemical Engineering from Bucknell University, and also serves on the board of directors of the American Chemistry Council.

"As the chief executive of a global chemical company and an engineer by training, Erin is an up-and-coming leader in our industry," said Mark P. Vergnano, president and chief executive officer of Chemours. "We're grateful to add Erin to our board of directors, and look forward to leveraging her leadership skills to help take our company to new heights."

Ms. Kane's appointment is effective immediately. She joins a nine-member board of directors that is now composed one-third of women.
